COURSE OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of the course, the student will be able to:

1. Apply knowledge of nursing theory and scientific principles of pathophysiology, pharmacokinetics and pharmacotherapeutics in the assessment, diagnosis, and management of complex acute, critical, and chronically ill patients.
2. Implement a plan of nursing and medical care based on research, clinical practice guidelines, and individual patient and family needs.
3. Utilize health assessment skills to perform appropriate comprehensive or focused examinations and differentiate normal from abnormal.
4. Incorporate information from the health history, physical examination, diagnostic tests to identify differential diagnoses and priorities of care.
5. Integrate knowledge of rapidly changing pathophysiology of acute and critical illness in planning care.
6. Develop a collaborative comprehensive plan of care to maximize physical and mental health, considering the indications, contraindications, risk of complications, and cost benefit of diagnostic tests and therapeutic interventions.
7. Perform diagnostic and therapeutic interventions to evaluate and stabilize rapidly changing health problems.
8. Develop therapeutic interventions related to social, cultural, spiritual, bioethical, and economic needs to the patient and family.
9. Collaborate with other health care professionals to deliver evidence-based, safe, and cost-efficient health care.
10. Integrate standards of professional behavior and accountability in the implementation of the Acute Care Nurse Practitioner role.
11. Implement the role of the Acute Care Nurse Practitioner in advanced practice.
